

FAA Medical Exam: Pre-Exam Checklist

Dr. Sam Fereidouni, MD, MHSA - FAA-designated Senior Aviation Medical Examiner - Class 1, 2 & 3

☐ 1. Sign up on MedXPress and bring your confirmation number

Complete your application at medxpress.faa.gov BEFORE your appointment and write down the confirmation number. Without it, your exam cannot begin. Do this a few days early - the medical history questions deserve careful, consistent answers.

☐ 2. Government photo ID

Driver's license or passport.

☐ 3. The glasses or contacts you fly with

Bring both pairs if you use separate distance and reading correction.

☐ 4. Complete medication list with doses

Include over-the-counter medications and supplements.

☐ 5. Documentation for any reported condition

Status reports, test results, specialist letters, or CACI worksheet items if applicable. New diagnosis since your last medical? Call us BEFORE booking - a pre-exam consultation usually turns a deferral into a same-day issuance.

☐ 6. Payment

Self-pay pricing is published at aveonhealth.com/pricing - no surprises.

☐ 7. The night before

Sleep normally, hydrate, go easy on caffeine (it nudges blood pressure).
